Remembrance Day

We joined in with millions of people across the world today remembering all those who have fought and still fight today to ensure that more people can live in safety, with freedom to choose how they live, to be educated and to live in peace and harmony with others. KS2 children sang a beautiful, poignant song including the powerful lyrics:

“November, November, the clock strikes ten and then, eleven will bring;
The silence of respect for those that history can't forget.
Now for them a song of thanks we sing.”

Dear Johanna family:

Well done to our Prefects who have been tremendous in raising money for this year's Poppy Appeal. They have organised their own rota and dutifully sold poppies and poppy merchandise. The children have eagerly queued up to get their slapbands, rulers, rubbers, paper and reflective poppies. Paul helped children understand why we were doing this in our Remembrance Assembly this morning. All our children were very respectful and sensible during the 2 minute silence at 11am, joining in with millions of others around our country in remembering those who have fought for our country.

Iain and Adam's visit

We had Iain visiting our school for 2 days this week and Adam joined him for one. We have regular, supportive visits from OCL (Oasis Community Learning) which help us to make sure we are improving all the right things. It was a very successful visit and we look forward to seeing Iain in the Spring Term.

Safety on our Streets

We want to remind all our children and parents about life in central London. We know that there are many wonderful people who live and work in our community. However, it is such a shame that a few people do not share our 9 habits or live up to our values and ethos. Please take care when using mobile phones on the street - these are easily snatched by people on bikes, who quickly cycle off. Try to use headphones when using your phone so that it is safely in your pocket, out of sight. Remember to call the police (101) or Crimestoppers (anonymous call 0800 555 111) if you see anything suspicious, no matter how small. You could save someone a lot of heartache.

Hope you enjoy a drier weekend and to see you at the very important event happening on Monday next week - the Oasis People's Parliament event on Young people and Racism.

Safety in school and at home

Many parents will have noticed the appearance of a small flyer with a QR code that has gone in to the children's reading records last week (see below). This is part of our tireless pursuit to proactively make sure that children are safe and well in school and outside. This is a job that we share with the parents.

Any child scanning this will be taken to a web form where they can report anything that is concerning them - something of a digital "worry box". The form is sent to Paul as the school's designated safeguarding lead. These could be big worries or small worries and every concern will be treated appropriately. They could be filled in with the parent or independently because of a concern at school, on the street or at home. They may be filled in anonymously because a child wants to report something about a friend that they don't feel confident speaking about in person. They may be filled in during the school day, school holidays or at home - and we know that often feelings bubble up at bedtimes and a child may want to let us know something.

With regards to safeguarding, the school must adhere to a document called Keeping Children Safe in Education. We are given a responsibility in Keeping Children Safe in Education that "Systems should be in place, and they should be well promoted, easily understood and easily accessible for children to confidently report...". This system is about accessibility and giving children every opportunity to be heard if they have anything that is concerning them.

If you have any other questions about this system or anything else we are doing with regards to safeguarding please speak to Paul.
