

Dear Johanna family:

Lots of visitors this week - we welcomed the Johanna Family Voice Reps for their termly meeting on Wednesday. We had the author Nicholas Allan come to school on Monday and shared his most recent book 'The King's Pants' - just in time for the King's Coronation next week. We were privileged to have this book read by the author himself!

Coronation Celebrations in school

Next Friday (5th May), dress up in your finest party clothes, wear a tiara, crown or fascinator and get ready to celebrate! We will have our own version of the Coronation - I wonder who will be crowned our very own Johanna King or Queen for the day? There will be lots of coronation-themed activities including a special lunch. So much to look forward to.

Eid Party - Friday 5th 3.30pm

Hope to see everyone next Friday for our Eid party - please bring and share some of your favourite foods! Come and celebrate with many of our school family.

Strike Days

We have another strike on Tuesday 2nd May. Unfortunately, we will only be open to Year 6 children on both these days.

Clubs for Summer Term

Clubs start next week (Wednesday 3rd, due to the bank holiday and strike day). These will continue each week up until the penultimate week before the summer holidays. We have a few places at some of the clubs so contact the office and book your place. All payments must be paid via MCAS.

Don't forget the bank holiday this Monday - enjoy the day and I hope we have glorious sunshine! I'll see Year 6 on Tuesday and everyone else on Wednesday next week.

Nicholas Allan Visit

KS1 were visited by popular children's author Nicholas Allan this week. He wowed us with magic tricks, blew our minds with his hilarious stories and tickled us with his sense of humour. Nicholas then challenged us to redesign the Kings Pants - come and take a look! The children were mesmerised, thank you so much for your visit!
